

FROZEN BOTTLE

Website Redesign & Trust Improvement – Design Concept

Prepared for: Project Manager review

Based on: Frozen Bottle Website Research Report, August 2026

Prepared: August 2026

1. Purpose

The research report on frozenbottle.com identified a strong brand foundation – a clear 100% vegetarian positioning, a wide product catalog, and an active franchise funnel – undercut by a set of visible trust, presentation, and content issues (broken pricing, missing founder images, zero reviews, an uncurated product dump, and weak page titles/alt text).

This document translates those findings into a concrete design concept for the homepage and supporting pages, so the site better converts both dessert customers and prospective franchise partners.

2. Design Objectives

- Restore trust on first view – fix broken elements (pricing, founder photos) and add visible social proof.
- Turn the 108-item best-seller dump into a curated, scannable merchandising layout.
- Give the brand a real story – ingredients, hygiene, and what makes it different beyond “100% Veg.”
- Strengthen the franchise funnel with proof points (partner quotes, press mentions) alongside the existing enquiry CTAs.
- Align content fixes (page titles, alt text, newsletter copy) with the SEO gaps flagged in the audit.

3. Issue → Design Fix Map

Each issue from the audit is mapped to a specific design or content fix and the page/section it belongs to.

Issue from Audit	Design / Content Fix	Where it lives
Every product shows “No reviews” despite 200+ outlets	Seed and surface real reviews; add a lightweight post-purchase review prompt; show a review widget on PDPs and homepage best-sellers	Best-sellers, PDP
Prices display as “Rs. 0.00” on homepage listings	Fix product price sync from Shopify to homepage template; add automated QA check that flags any ₹0.00 price before publish	Homepage, PDP
Founder photos reported as broken/missing in the audit	Replace with proper hosted images, add descriptive alt text, add a short founder quote/caption for credibility	About page
No testimonials, press mentions, or franchise success stories	Add a homepage “Trust Bar” (press logos, franchise partner quotes, outlet count) above the fold	Homepage (new Trust Bar)
Best-seller section is a 108-item unsorted dump	Curate into 4–6 merchandised rows (“Most Loved,” “New,” “Boba,” “Sundaes”) with hero imagery, not a flat grid	Homepage best-sellers

Issue from Audit	Design / Content Fix	Where it lives
No loyalty/rewards program visible	Design a simple points-based rewards module and a homepage banner introducing it	Homepage, account page
No brand story on ingredients/hygiene/differentiation	Add a “Why Frozen Bottle” story section with ingredient sourcing, hygiene standards, and veg-only promise	Homepage (new section)
Newsletter offers vague “special offers”	Replace with a concrete incentive (e.g., “Get ₹100 off your first order”) tied to signup	Footer / popup
Missing alt text on images incl. founder & product photos	Add descriptive alt text as part of the CMS image-upload checklist (design + SEO fix)	Sitewide (CMS process)

4. Homepage Redesign Concept – Section by Section

4.1 Hero Section

Keep the existing brand identity but add a one-line trust cue directly in or beneath the hero, e.g. “200+ Outlets · 100% Vegetarian · Since 2017.” This immediately answers the credibility gap the audit flagged, before the visitor scrolls further.

4.2 Trust Bar (New Section)

A slim horizontal band placed directly below the hero, addressing the report's finding of “no testimonials, press mentions, or franchise success stories anywhere on the homepage.”

- Row of press/media logos (from existing third-party franchise-listing mentions such as FranchiseHurt, FranchiseByte).
- 2–3 short franchise partner quotes with city and outlet name.
- Key stats: outlet count, cities covered, years in business.

4.3 Best-Sellers – Curated Merchandising (Fixes Pricing + Uncurated Dump)

Replace the flat 108-product grid with 4–6 horizontally-scrollable rows grouped by category (“Most Loved Milkshakes,” “Boba Tea,” “Sundaes,” “Waffles”). Each product card shows:

- Correct, synced price (fixes the “Rs. 0.00” display bug).
- Display verified ratings and review counts when sufficient review data is available.
- A single high-quality product photo rather than a dense catalog thumbnail grid.

4.4 Brand Story Section (New)

A dedicated “Why Frozen Bottle” block covering ingredient sourcing, hygiene standards, and what differentiates the brand from other milkshake/dessert chains – directly answering the audit's “no clear brand-story section” gap. Pair short copy with 3 icon-led points (e.g. 100% Vegetarian, Quality Ingredients, Hygiene & Quality Standards) rather than a wall of text.

4.5 Founder / About Credibility Section

Resolve the broken/missing founder images identified in the audit by using properly hosted photos and descriptive alt text (also an SEO fix). Add a one-line caption per founder (role + a short credibility note) so the section reads as a real team rather than a placeholder.

4.6 Franchise CTA Section

Keep the existing “Franchise,” “Franchise By City,” and “Master Franchise” structure, which the audit called out as a genuine strength – but place 1–2 franchise partner success stories directly beside the enquiry form, so the CTA sits next to proof rather than a bare form.

4.7 Newsletter Signup (Fixes Vague Offer)

Replace “special offers” copy with a concrete, specific incentive tied to signup, e.g. “Get ₹100 off your first order – join the list.” Concrete offers convert better than vague ones and this was flagged directly in the audit.

4.8 Loyalty / Rewards Teaser

Add a compact homepage banner introducing a points-based rewards program (e.g., “Proposed loyalty concept: Earn rewards on every order”) even if the full program is phase two – the audit noted its total absence as a missed retention lever for a repeat-visit dessert brand.

5. Visual & Content Style Direction

- Palette: keep the brand's existing berry/plum tones for CTAs and headers; pair with a fresh green accent to reinforce the “100% Veg” identity at a glance.
- Typography: a rounded, friendly display face for headings (dessert/QSR feel), a clean readable sans for body and pricing.
- Imagery: replace catalog-style thumbnails with warmer, lifestyle-leaning product photography for the curated best-seller rows.
- Tone: keep the brand's playful voice (e.g. “Don't ask. Just eat!”) for social/casual copy, but switch to a more credibility-driven tone for franchise-investment pages and meta descriptions, per the audit's SEO findings.

6. Supporting Content & SEO Recommendations

These are content-level fixes that pair directly with the design changes above and were flagged in the audit's SEO section:

- Rewrite keyword-stuffed titles (e.g. the FAQ page's “FAQs – No. 1 Frequently Asked Questions”) to match natural search phrasing.
- Add descriptive alt text to all product and founder images as part of the CMS upload checklist – not a one-time fix.
- Consider dedicated landing pages for high-intent franchise search terms (e.g. “milkshake franchise cost,” “best dessert franchise India”) to target high-intent franchise searches and improve organic visibility.
- Shift blog titles from internal/branded phrasing (e.g. “99 Menu Returns”) toward titles built around what people actually search for, while keeping the existing publishing cadence.

7. Next Steps

- Validate the price-sync bug with the dev/Shopify team and identify the root cause.
- Kick off review collection (post-purchase email/SMS prompt) so the Best-Sellers redesign has real ratings to display at launch.
- Source or reshoot founder photography and gather 2–3 franchise partner quotes for the Trust Bar.
- Run the technical SEO checks flagged as unverified in the audit (Core Web Vitals, robots.txt/sitemap, indexation, backlink profile) before finalizing the pitch.
